March 28 &amp; 29, 2020

With the recommended social distancing in recent weeks, and for some, self-isolation, we are almost forced to take a look at our relationships, especially with those closest to us. Police officers are reporting more relational tension in homes. Others, who are alone, have more time to consider the pain of broken relationships.

If I were to ask the question, “How many of you have been hurt by someone?” all of you would have to answer “yes.” And, because we have all been hurt by someone, Jesus’ words on forgiveness and restoration apply to all of us. This is definitely an “Everyday Struggle.”

Why is it so critical that we forgive?

1. For disciples of Jesus, to forgive is a God-given opportunity
2. Disciples of Jesus have the resources needed to forgive
3. Forgiveness is most often more about obedience than faith
4. Disciples of Jesus experience healing when they take steps of faith
5. Forgiveness is a process, not a singular event
  - a. Begin with your own repentance before God
  - b. Choose to forgive, because God forgave you
  - c. Remember that healing happens as we take steps of obedience
  - d. Express your forgiveness in concrete ways
6. Disciples of Jesus return to thank God for healing
