Marriage reflects Christ's unity with the church. But marriage is not everyone's outcome. Do singles get to live in the beauty of God's love in Jesus, or do they just get a consolation life? Paul addresses singles and marrieds, helping us understand that regardless if we say I do or I don't, our relational state does not dictate our discipleship mandate. Our devotion is to God first – and our relationships are transformed through our love for and from Him.

Our relational state does not dictate our discipleship mandate.

- 1. Live with the end in mind.
- 2. It's about calling, not constraint.
- 3. Be confident in your decision.
