March 24 & 25, 2018

Max Weber, a German sociologist, defined power and authority in the following manner: power is the ability to exercise one's will over others, while authority refers to accepted power; that is, power that people agree to follow. Authority, according to Weber, can be traditional (e.g., a parent), charismatic (e.g., Martin Luther King Jr.) or legal (e.g., the Canadian government). The burning questions in today's text are: What is the relationship between power and authority? Who has authority to act?

1. Power exercised for the sake of power is authority abused
2. Jesus' identity and authority are not determined by our position and opinion
3. Jesus' authority is determined by His origin and God-given entrustment
4. We choose to submit to the authority of Jesus or the authority of the kingdom of this world

Congregation Response

We would like to hear your questions and comments that have come up during the human sexuality sermon series. Please send us a quick text with your questions and comments to 778-769-0770. This will help us better understand how we can engage with you on these issues.
